Introduction

Mental Illness is a devastating disease, not only for those who have it, but also for the families and friends who love them. When a family is first confronted with the reality of mental illness, they usually experience shock and bewilderment. What comes next is the often a confusing search for help and guidance. Though the burdens and discouragement can be overwhelming, many others have also faced these same issues. You are not alone.

If you have a family member with a medical condition join our Family Support Group. If you have a mental illness join our Connection Support Group. Members’ combined experiences can serve as a stabilizing influence and can provide you with the support and guidance to make your living less desperate and confused. Check out mental illness symptoms and up-to-date information at our website- WWW.namidekalb.org. This Help Book is set up in the order of situations in which you will probably go through a crisis, stabilization, recovery and relapse.

The following are examples of actions or problems where you should seek emergency psychiatric help:

- Expressing serious thoughts about attempting suicide.
- Hearing very disturbing voices.
- Experiencing uncontrollable anxiety.
- Feeling uncontrollable anger.
- Exhibiting manic or otherwise bizarre behavior, severe depression, disorientation, or extreme confusion

Mental health conditions addressed by NAMI and included in this resource guide include;

- Anxiety Disorders,
- Behavioral Disorders,
- Eating Disorders,
- Mental Health and Substance Use Disorders,
- Mood Disorders,
- Personality Disorders,
- Psychotic Disorders,
- Suicidal Behavior.

More information for these disorders can be found on the government website mentalhealth.gov. It is important to remember that the brain is very complex and difficult to understand.

Our hope is that this resource guide will provide people dealing with mental illness in their lives with information that will assist them and contribute to their well-being.

Guidelines for Family Members in Emergencies

Don’t threaten – the ill person may interpret this as a power play and increase fear or prompt “assaultive” behavior.

Don’t shout – If the mentally ill person seems not to be listening, it isn’t because he/she is hard of hearing. Other “voices” are probably interfering or predominating.

Don’t criticize – It will only make matters worse.

Don’t bait the ill person into acting out wild threats; the consequences could be tragic.

Good Advice For Families

• Learn all you can about the illness.

• Avoid guilt and placing blame.

• Find out about benefits and support systems when things are going well; don’t wait for a crisis.

• Learn to recognize warning signs of impending relapse, such as changes in sleeping or eating habits, social withdrawal, and signs of irritability.

• Anticipate troublesome situations. If someone can’t handle being with a mentally ill person, try to help them understand. If they fail to understand you may want to avoid any more encounters.

• Do not agree with stopping medications because the situation is “cured” or because the medication “makes me feel sick.” Refer these decisions to the doctor who prescribed the medication. Settling on the right doctor and the most effective medication is very important and may take time. Don’t give up!

• Have reasonable expectations.

• Do not suggest that the patient “pull himself together.” If he/she could, he/she would. Not being able to do this is part of the illness. Remember that his/her suffering and distress are even greater than yours.

• Do not expect and insist that all unusual habits be corrected at once. Focus on what is accomplished, not on what is not accomplished.

• At times people with neuro-biological brain disorders suffer from memory loss or the inability to concentrate. This is frustrating and frightening. Do not insist that the person with mental illness try harder to concentrate; just repeat the information in a nonjudgmental way.
• The person with mental illness needs someone who understands that illness and is aware of what is happening. Acknowledge their feelings. Do not support their illusions.

Rights and Responsibilities

Psychiatric patients have certain rights and responsibilities, which play an essential role in the management of their illness. So do their families. The families’ rights and responsibilities play an essential role in managing and coping with the patient at home.

Families have the right...

• Not to be blamed for the illness.
• To be free from certain social obligations.
• Not to be abused, yelled at – or hit.
• To seek treatment for the ill family member.
• To seek information regarding diagnosis, symptoms and treatment for the ill family member.

Families have the responsibility of...

• Contributing to the prevention of relapse.
• Helping the ill family member get to appointments.
• Giving honest feedback to the ill family member.
• Tolerating non-tyrannical behavior (i.e., allowing the patient all rights and no responsibilities).
• Observing the patient closely; setting limits on behavior.
• Learning as much as possible about the illness.
• Becoming involved in the patient’s treatment and healthy lifestyle.
• Communicating honestly and assertively.
• Maintaining the family network by meeting the intellectual, spiritual and emotional needs of the well family members

Patients have a right to...

• Safety, security and decreased stress while ill.
• Protection from harm and ridicule.
• Protection from hurting oneself.
• Exemption from social obligations and other responsibilities.
• Dignity and freedom from abuse.
• Adequate treatment for the illness.
• Medication
• Medical treatment as needed.
• Social and work skills rehabilitation.
• Therapy and counseling
• A realistic placement and/or discharge plan.
• Individualized treatment plan.
• Information on one’s illness, treatment and prognosis.
• Hospital orientation
• Education classes
• Informed consent is necessary for psychiatrist to give a diagnosis to your family (HIPAA Law).
• Confidentiality

Patients have the responsibility of…
• Accepting and recognizing the illness.
• Not denying the illness.
• Learning the warning signs that the illness is returning.
• Seeking treatment and collaborating with treatment givers.
• Listening to their doctor’s advice and discussing it with the doctor.
• Giving open and honest information about symptoms.
• Learning as much as possible about the illness and treatment.
• Asking questions; listening to the answers.
• Attending education classes and trying to learn.

Violation of Rights:

If you believe the rights of a person with mental illness have been violated in the areas of education, employment, housing or treatment, contact the Georgia Advocacy Office at 404-885-1234 or 1-800-537-2329

DeKalb Mobile Crisis Unit

If you or your loved one is violent or suicidal, you can call 911 and ask for the DeKalb Mobile Crisis Unit. Tell them you want a CIT (Crisis Intervention Team) trained police officer, not the Fire Department or ambulance. The police are the ones who will call the Mobile Unit. You also can call the Georgia Single Point of Entry Crisis Line at 1-800-715-4225. A counselor will answer your call 24 hours a day and advise you on what to do. The DeKalb Regional Crisis Center Mobile Crisis Unit has experienced psychiatric nurses from DeKalb Community Service Board (CSB) who ride with police 7 days a week in the afternoon and evening. They respond to crisis calls through the above numbers. The person must be convinced, not forced, to go to the hospital.

If a person refuses hospitalization, the family may file for a lay affidavit from the DeKalb Probate Court office at the DeKalb Courthouse in Decatur. The office is open from 8:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. The law requires that the subject must pose a substantial risk to self or to others or be unable to care for self. The subject must be seen in the past 48 hours by the two adults initiating the request. The Mobile Unit nurse can also assist you and be a second witness when applying for a lay affidavit (See pg.37). Explain the medical problems, bringing photos of damage to the house, injuries and messy room to help reinforce your case. The name of your chosen psychiatric hospital appears in the affidavit.

The second situation occurs when the ill person is willing to come to an Outpatient Center, but refuses to go to a Psychiatric Hospital. There, a qualified mental health professional may decide that the person’s current condition constitutes a substantial risk of immediate harm to self or others, or the inability to care for self. A form can then be signed that allows for the person to be involuntarily transported to a Psychiatric Hospital you choose for further evaluation and possible admission.

DeKalb Regional Crisis Center
450 Winn Way
Decatur, GA  30030
404-294-0499
-DeKalb Regional Crisis Center serves residents of DeKalb, Fulton and Clayton Counties. Patients usually stay only for seven to ten days, according to federal regulations. They do not accept patients who have any insurance, including Medicare or Medicaid. Psychiatric Emergency Services are available for all residents of these counties.

Psychiatric Crises

NAMI Georgia continues to sponsor Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) voluntary training of police officers in all areas of the state. When you call the police for help, please insist that the policeman be CIT certified to insure your loved one will be hospitalized and not jailed. Including, avoiding the Justice System if at all possible.

Have a plan and put it on paper.

Because mental illness crises are unpredictable and can lead to “out-of-control” behavior, it is critical that the family of the ill member have a plan in place beforehand. This plan should be in writing and all family members should have participated in the development of this plan, including the person with mental illness when he/she feels well. Distribute the plan to the people who may be involved in resolving the crisis. As a minimum, include the following in your plan:

Name and phone number of his/her therapist and or psychiatrist
• Medications- type, strengths; Pharmacy- dates began each medication and symptoms the medicine is treating.
• Medications that haven’t worked.
• Medications that have worked.
• Treatments that have helped in the past. Treatments (if any) that should be avoided. Have your loved one write down what will make him/her feel calmer.
• What people, or actions, make the situation worse?
• In advance, learn how to optimize safety for yourself and your ill loved one – from the therapist and from law enforcement.

• The Wellness Recovery Action plan (or WRAP) is a strategy that using self-help skills and strategies that complement other treatment scenarios, they are achieving levels of wellness, stability, and recovery they always hoped was possible.
Missing Persons Support

What To Do / What Steps To Take:

If you have a missing loved one with serious mental illness, the following steps and information may be helpful:

Step 1.) Notify your local police immediately of your missing loved one and provide them with all the information you can. If the person remains missing more than three (3) days, ask the police to place them on the FBI's National Computer (NCIC) list as an "endangered adult". This computer network provides information nationwide. The network will give you a police number to use when searching for your relative.

Step 2.) When missing persons with mental illness over age 21 are located, the police and other agencies cannot hold or ask that they be held against their will if they have not committed a crime. No one has the authority to force the person to seek aid or medical care against his or her will unless there is a medical guardianship or court order specifying what action to take when the individual is found.

Voluntary vs. Involuntary Hospitalization

Georgia, like every state, has its own civil commitment laws that establish criteria for determining when court-ordered treatment is appropriate for individuals with severe mental illness who are too ill to seek care voluntarily. The state authorizes both inpatient (hospital) and outpatient (community) treatment, which is known in Georgia as "involuntary outpatient treatment."

Laws vary from State to State.

For inpatient treatment, a person must meet the following criteria:

- be in need of involuntary treatment AND

1 http://www.nami.org/Template.cfm?Section=Missing_Persons
(1) imminent danger to self/others, evidenced by recent overt acts or expressed threats of violence

OR

(2) unable to care for physical health and safety so as to create an imminently life-endangering crisis and in need of involuntary treatment.

For outpatient treatment, a person must meet the following criteria:
- based on treatment history or current mental status, requires outpatient treatment in order to avoid predictably and imminently becoming an inpatient AND unable to voluntarily seek or comply with outpatient treatment.²

Procedures For Psychiatric Hospitalization

Voluntary Hospitalization
The ill person seeking treatment may contact their own mental health provider, their local Community Service Board, or the nearest behavioral health hospital. In any of those settings, a mental health professional will evaluate the person. If the illness is severe enough, hospitalization may be recommended. If the person has insurance, the mental health professional will assist with finding an approved provider. If the person does not have insurance, they would be referred to Georgia Regional Hospital - Atlanta (GRH-A). That hospital requires the person first to be "medically cleared" at a local medical hospital emergency room. If the person is willing to go to the psychiatric hospital, a family member or friend usually provides transportation.

Involuntary Hospitalization
There may be times when the person with mental illness is experiencing severe symptoms but is unwilling or unable to seek help. There are two ways to have someone involuntarily hospitalized.

1. Family or friends can request an Order to Apprehend from the County Probate Court. This document is designed for concerned parties to request that the mentally ill person be picked up and brought in by the sheriff’s deputies for an evaluation. To do this, two adults who have observed the mentally ill person within the past 48 hours go to Gwinnett County Justice Administration Building at 75 Langley Drive in Lawrenceville.

2. A qualified mental health professional, physician, or advanced practice behavioral health nurse may decide that the person’s current condition constitutes a substantial risk of immediate harm to self or others, or the inability to care for self. A 1013 form is signed and the person is involuntarily trans- ported to a Psychiatric Hospital for further evaluation. Transportation may need to be provided by trained professionals like police officers or paramedics. You may request that a Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) police officers be called to the scene. Do not attempt to transport your loved one by yourself when he or she is in crisis.

PADs are relatively new legal instruments that may be used to document a competent person’s specific instructions or preferences regarding future mental health treatment, in preparation for the possibility that the person may lose capacity to give or withhold informed consent to treatment during acute episodes of psychiatric illness.¹

Support groups are important for Individuals Living With Mental Illnesses (ILWMI) to know about others with similar problems, get an understanding of what is happening to them and find a way to deal with it. Financial Planning

If your adult child is on SSI and is expecting an inheritance or legal settlement, you will need to have a properly prepared legal document called a “Special Needs or Supplemental Needs Trust” so benefits are not lost. Only non-necessities can be paid from the monies in the Trust. You need an attorney experience in creating such Trust in order to protect their entitlements. These are attorneys have been used in the past by members:

Guardianship

Adult Guardianship is advised for the parent of a disabled child 18 or over, who is unmanageable, has risky behavior or simply unable to deal with legal matters. Having guardianship of your adult child gives you the right to make decisions pertaining to the child. Otherwise you have no say in his/her decisions. At probate court fill out the petition form and pay a $480 filing fee. A psychiatric assessment is usually given. The duty of the guardians, usually the parent, is to file a yearly report about his/her condition.

Legal Assistance

If your loved one is in jail you have a million questions. The first question is probably, how to get medications over to him or her at the jail. Vital information is listed below.

A good strategy is to contact the Diversion Treatment Court (DTC) instead of immediately posting a bond to get the person out of jail. Call 404-371-2241. You don’t need a lawyer; however, if a lawyer is assigned, ask them to explore a referral to DTC. This will be the best chance for his or her true recovery. Since the program is voluntary, the detainee must be willing to participate. The criminal case will be dismissed upon graduation from the program. The program is considered one of the best in the country.

Financial Benefits

Mental illness is a serious neurobiological condition that very often leads to an inability to successfully support oneself in gainful employment. Consequently, the illness may qualify as a disability and the ill person may be eligible for cash benefits from the Social Security Administration (SSA). There are two kinds of cash benefits available: Social Security Disability (SSDI) and Supplemental Security Income (SSI).

- SSDI is for a person who has worked and paid into the Social Security system enough time to qualify. There is no limit on bank accounts or what you own.
- RSDI based on a parent’s work history. If a parent is deceased, disabled, or retired and receiving benefits, a child who has a disability that is documented before age 22 may qualify.
- SSI is based on the ill person’s financial need. Eligibility is determined through an interview process. You cannot have more than $2000 in cash, checking, savings, etc. You can own a house and a vehicle.

Benefits are handled through the SSA. Apply at any Social Security Office or by calling 1-800-772-1213. The office hours are 7:00 a.m. to 7 p.m. and the best time to call is close to the beginning hour or close to closing hour.

Information To Secure Benefits:

Call Social Security’s toll free number 1-800-772-1213. Tell them you want to apply for disability benefits. They will take information from you on the phone. They will send you a package of forms to complete. They will schedule an interview, either by phone or one on one at your local office. Complete all forms requested. Send all material back to Social Security by the requested date. If you are denied benefits, you have the right to appeal. It is in your interest to follow through with the appeal. If you are denied a second time, appeal the decision. Again, it is in your interest to appeal. If you are denied again, appeal the decision. This will be your opportunity to go before an Administrative Law Judge with Social Security to make your case. You may want to consider an Attorney for this appeal. (This information courtesy of Sally Atwell)

Food Stamps:
The food stamp program is a federal program designed to help families with low income buy the food they need to maintain good health. Your income level determines eligibility. To apply for Food Stamps go to DeKalb County Department of Family and Children Services (DFCS) Office located at 178 Sams Street, Decatur. Phone: 404-370-5000.
You can now apply online at http://compass.ga.gov/.

Health Benefits

Provided by CMS- Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services

Medicaid
Medicaid is a medical assistance program, funded by both the federal and state governments. The county’s Department of Family & Children’s Service (DFCS) operate it in each county. The address is 178 Sams Street, Decatur GA (Phone: 770-638-5790).

For people with a disabling mental illness, it is probably the most important resource for both mental health care and medical services. For those who qualify, Medicaid pays for doctor’s services, lab fees, clinics, medical equipment, emergency dental care and medical transportation. Apply first at Social Security for a disability decision if you are under age 65.

Since Medicaid is run by each state, new residents from out of state must re-apply for this benefit at the local DFCS office. For those having difficulty getting Medicaid approval, Bruce Johnson offers her services at reasonable rates for providing assistance with Social Security and SSI Disability claims, call 404-297-4107 or bruce999@bellsouth.net.

Medicare

Medicare is a federal insurance program that helps pay hospital and medical bills and discounted prescription drugs. It is for almost everybody 65 or older, regardless of income, as well as disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) for 24 months. If you have received SSDI benefits for a total of 24 months, you are eligible to enroll in Medicare.

Part A of Medicare (hospital insurance) covers inpatient hospital care, skilled nursing facility care, home health care, and hospice care.

Part B (medical insurance) covers doctors’ services, outpatient hospital services, and some other services. When you become eligible for Medicare, you will receive Part A automatically. To receive Part B of Medicare, you must enroll in the program and pay a monthly charge that is deducted from your Social Security benefit.

Part D provides prescription drug benefits for those on Medicare and/or Medicaid. To enroll, contact Medicare (1-800-633-4227). Low income persons may qualify for “extra help” to reduce your cost. When accepted, you must select a drug plan provider that meets your needs. Pharmacies offer help in this selection.

Recovery

Rehabilitation & Recovery Services

Recovery begins with awareness. Self-denial leads nowhere. Once a person realizes he/she has a problem, recovery can begin with the help of programs listed below. Essentially the person with mental illness leads the process of recovery by defining goals and a path to those goals based on the person’s unique strengths, needs and preferences.

Physical health is very important. That is why the CSB has partnered with Oakhurst Medical to check out hidden illnesses. As one’s attitude improves, nerve endings reconnect and reorganize. You will develop supportive trust with counselors. By attending Peer Support Groups, one can feel accepted and not alone. There you can learn new strategies to achieve the goals set. Gradually you will achieve acceptance and appreciation and with that self respect. With that comes responsibility for self-care.

Recovery is a message of hope and understanding. Peers, friends and family can help foster that hope. The ingredients of rehabilitation programs that lead to recovery are:
* a safe and stable environment
* good medical treatment
* an educated and supportive family
* something to get involved in — work, community, advocacy
* education about effective management of the illness
* focus on ILWMI strength and self-determination

Plus a caring counselor or therapist can make tremendous improvement. There are many private counselors who take clients on a “sliding scale”, meaning on ability to pay. There are many websites listing local counselors, such as:

Vocational Assistance

“The number one dream of people with mental illness in terms of breaking free from the bonds of their illness, the poverty associated with it, and the embarrassment and stigma of it, is to be able to go to work,” said Ralph Bilby, Program Director of the International Center for Clubhouse Development. Too often people in recovery face barriers to finding and maintaining a good job -- barriers created by themselves as much as others. Common feelings include:
* A serious lack of confidence
* The fear of recurring episodes of illness
* A sense of being too far behind to catch up
* A stigma regarding mental illness that still exists in the workplace
* Government Regulations, which sometimes create unnecessary obstacles

While these barriers are real, they can be overcome.

Important Ideas For Finding And Maintaining Meaningful Employment

1. Don't be afraid to try.
2. Find and actively work with a “Rehabilitation Partner”.
3. Position yourself for the best chance at getting meaningful work i.e. training, education, or volunteer work.
4. Optimize your health.
5. Develop excellent work habits.
7. Look at your employment search as a long-term learning process.
8. Be willing to trust. “It’s about trust, which must be earned.” (Ralph Bilby)
9. Take it one step at a time. Patience is one of your best allies.
